SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

Support the Catholic Home Missions Appeal Today!

Nearly 40% of dioceses in the United States and its current and former territories are considered mission territories because they are unable to fund essential pastoral activities for their communities. Your support funds religious education, seminary formation, lay ministry training, and other programs that build vibrant faith communities right here in the United States. Please be generous. Find more information at www.usccb.org/home-missions. Envelopes are in the pews.

DOMINICAN CORNER

LOVE ONE ANOTHER

Can we love the way God loves? Br. Hyacinth Marie Bui, O.P., reflects on the Gospel for the Fifth Sunday of Easter.

In this Sunday's Gospel, Jesus, addressing us as His little children, gives us this powerful commandment: "Love one another, as I have loved you." However, this is a difficult teaching; in fact, it is impossible. Why? Because you and I, we are not God, and so we cannot love the way God loves. Yet, if we want to perfect our friendship with God, we must observe this impossible commandment. How? This is only possible by the gift of God's grace. It is by His grace that, in our prayers and meditation, He himself teaches us how to love. And it is by His grace that we are able to imitate His love in loving one another.

Let us look at three ways Jesus loves us, and how we can imitate Him.

First, Jesus loves us gratuitously—without any benefit to Himself. He loved us first before we loved Him, and He loved us into existence. We too, can imitate Christ's love by loving one another gratuitously without any concern for thanks nor waiting to be loved by others.

Secondly, Jesus loved us by giving himself up on the Cross for our sins. And we can imitate this love by making an offering of ourselves for one another.

And finally, Jesus—by drawing us into Himself—loves us by sharing with us the ultimate good, that is, the fullness of life in the blessed Trinity—Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. By the grace of God, we can love one another by sharing the joy of the Gospel in order to bring Christ to souls, and to draw souls to deeper union with God.

And so, my friends, while we continue to journey here on this earth, striving to perfect our friendship with God, let us ask the Lord, in prayer, for the grace to observe this impossible commandment.

Br. Hyacinth Marie Bui, O.P. is from Calgary, Alberta and earned a B.S. in Nursing at the University of Calgary.

St. Francis Center

Dear St. Raymond Community,

I wanted to reach out and formally thank you for your constant support this past year. You have helped the St. Francis Center community in numerous ways that have eased the burden of this underserved community. You have supported them with sharing used uniforms, chicken drives, food drives, the Advent Giving Tree, and most recently with donations for the 2nd graders First Holy Communion clothes. Please know we are very grateful for your generous and thought-filled support. Your work is definitely the work of God's hands. Your support and prayers are evident each and every day here at the St. Francis Center and Holy Family School.

Again, thank you! God Bless!

Pax,
Kathleen Hamilton

May 24 is the Solemnity of the Translation of St. Dominic, which is described thus in the Dominican breviary: "In accordance with his wishes, St. Dominic was buried 'beneath the feet of his brethren' in the church of St. Nicholas of the Vineyards, Bologna. Many of the sick avowed that they had been healed of their infirmities at his tomb; the brethren however were loath to recognize these miracles and accept votive offerings. However, on May 24, 1233, at the urging of Gregory IX and in the presence of Theodoric, archbishop of Ravenna and papal legate, Dominic's body was moved to a marble sepulcher during the celebration of a General Chapter at Bologna attended by Bl. Jordan of Saxony and many brethren. Immediately a certain marvelous odor came forth from his sacred body, 'showing clearly to all how much the saint had truly been the aroma of Christ.'"

None of the three saintly women presented here were mothers themselves, but each heard the beat of God's maternal heart in the hills of Ireland, Germany, and North America, respectively.

St. Brigid's close identification with nature and connection to creatures appear in many stories and legends of her life, one of them a miraculous cow that never stopped giving milk to feed people in times of famine. St. Brigid also reminds us to see ourselves, both men and women as midwives, with the duty to give birth to Christ over and over again in our present world. [Feast day Feb. 1]

St. Hildegard of Bingen spoke out against human exploitation and destruction of the Earth, "Human beings are the thinking heart of the universe called to be co-creators with God in shaping the world." Why is she holding a green dove? Because to Hildegard, the Holy Spirit is green, the color of newly emerging life in spring and the abundant vibrancy of summer. We can enjoy heaven right here on Earth, St. Hildegard said, if we can remain sensitive to the Earth's green freshness. She even coined a word for it: viriditas, "the greening", i.e. the Spirit and its renewing power, which enlivens and manifests divinity in all of creation. She says, "The Word is living, being, spirit, all verdant greening, all creativity. This Word manifests itself in every creature." [Feast Day Sept. 17]

Pope Benedict canonized Kateri Tekakwitha in 2012, the same year he officially canonized Hildegard of Bingen and named her a Doctor of the Church. St. Kateri is now a patron saint of ecology and the environment along with Francis of Assisi. For Kateri, creation and creatures lead us to the Creator, the Great Spirit, the God who is both divine father and mother at the same time. [Feast Day July 14]

Through us, Christ is eternally incarnate when we work together and make deep connections to each other, to all creatures and to Earth itself. Let's rediscover and reverence viriditas, the presence of God in our midst.

(The painting and text from NCR Earthbeat by Michael Macgrath.)

Excerpts from a Mother's Day Prayer from Pope Francis: May 9, 2021

A society without mothers would be a deeply dehumanized society, for mothers are witnesses of tenderness, dedication, and moral strength. Dearest Mothers, thank you, thank you, for what you are in your families, and for what you give to the church and the world. Mary, we entrust mothers to your protection; you who have already arrived at the destination. Help them to walk together with joy toward the glory of heaven."
